ESTABLISHED 1846. NEWPORT, R. I., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 1910. PRICE TWO CENTS

From the Old Masters

A greater charm attaches to Titus showing of statuary from the fact that many of the pieces are reproductions of famous works by the old masters—some of the originals are deemed worthy a place in the splendid Morgan collection in New York City.

Our purpose to lift the general character of the entire display out of the rut of commonplaceness has produced what we believe is one of the most interesting exhibits of its kind in the country.

From it you will certainly be enabled to choose a Christmas gift that will keep memory green for a life time. The Special Titus prices are extremely moderate.

OF INCENDIARY ORIGIN.

Fire at Thornton's Theatre, River Point, Causes $40,000 Loss.

WARWICK, Nov. 26.—A fire believed to have been of incendiary origin destroyed Thornton's Theatre at River Point, early today, and threatened at times to assume the proportions of a conflagration. The loss is partially covred by insurance. The theatre was located in the population centre of the town and but for the fact that the roofs of the adjacent buildings were rain-soaked from yesterday's showers, it is believed that the entire district would have been swept. The concerted efforts of all the fire companies in the Pawtuxet valley, however, confined the flames to the theatre and a few sheds. The building was a three story structure occupied as a moving picture theatre, armory, saloon and store.

QUEEN ELIZABETH BETTER.

TOTAL DEATH LIST NOW TWENTY-EIGHT

Fire at Newark Paper Box Company Causes Panic.

Thirty Girls Leap to Street Before Aid Is Given.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 26.—In a disastrous factory fire here today 14 lives are known to have been lost and 40 or more persons were injured, some probably fatally. Nearly all the victims were young women workers in the manufacturing plants in the building, a four-story structure, which took fire from an explosion on the third floor. Loss of life and injury was heaviest among the 60 girls on the top floor, who were trapped by the quick spreading flames. Some of them jumped to safety to fire nets and others to their death or serious injury on the pavement below.

Several deaths in hospitals have brought the total death list up to 28.

It was said that five bodies had been found in the cellar of the ruined building. An investigation by the police resulted in a statement that the fire originated when Miss Sadie Henson was cleaning a carbon of an incandescent lamp, in the shop of the Aetna Electric Company, lamp manufacturers, on the third floor. She poured gasoline into the apparatus which she was operating and in a twinkling there was a blaze that flared up into Miss Henson's face and connected with some waste paper material. The identified dead up to 2 o'clock were as follows: Mrs. Frances Krathia; Miss Abbie Washington, Mrs. Alice Melzen, Mrs. Bessie Rosin, Mrs. Mary Lapierre, all residents of Newark.

The building in which the disaster occurred is a four-story brick structure. The first and second floors were occupied by the Newark Paper Box Company. The third floor was occupied by the Aetna Electric Company, makers of lamps. The fourth floor was used as a factory by Louis Wolf, manufacturer of undergarments. It is believed the fire started on the second floor, in the rear, among a lot of rubbish. Soon after it was noticed it had made its way into a lot of waste paper, from which it connected with the upper floors. In all, about 200 persons were employed in the building. Miss Jenies Gill, who was employed by Wolf, said she was in a room on the fourth floor with Anna Hague, the forewoman. Anna Smith and Augusta Ebert. Miss Hague discovered smoke and ran to a window. Panic stricken, she mounted to the sill and plunged into space. Miss Gill was about to follow her example when the firemen raised a ladder and brought her down. The ambulances from the city hospital and the patrol wagons from all the precincts were dispatched to the scene. A immmense crowd kept the police busy. One of the spectators said that at least 15 girls had jumped from the fourth floor of the burning structure.

With the exception of two girls employed by the Aetna Company all the employes on the first and second floors of the building escaped either by means of the exits or the one fire escape. The two girls sustained burns about the head and face.

Twenty of the injured were taken to St. Michael's Hospital in the ambulance while the salvage automobile took four more. Of these, two died after reaching the hospital. It was impossible to obtain the names of the victims in the great confusion that prevailed. The nets were put into use immediately after the arrival of the firemen, and perhaps 30 lives were saved this way. One girl, Hattie Delapey, was badly hurt by striking the edge of the net and falling to the pavement. Another girl sustained a broken ankle. Eugene McHugh, a fireman in the employ of the Aetna Company, guided several scores of girls in his employ to safety down a fire escape. Nearly all escaped injury. Less than 20 minutes after the arrival of the firemen the interior of the building was flame swept. The floors of the upper part of the building fell shortly afterwards. It is believed that a search of the ruins will reveal other bodies.

Among those who were early at the scene was Rev. Father E. F. Quirk, assistant rector of St. Joseph's Church. He gave last rites of the church to seven of the victims. Father Quirk said he counted 28 prostrate forms on the sidewalk. All were young women who had leaped from the upper windows of the factory. Six of the injured, three of whom cannot recover, were taken to St. Michael's Hospital. One of those fatally injured has not been identified. The remaining two are Mrs. Minnie Smith, 42 years old of Kearny and Alice Melzen of 63 Warren street.

GOVERNOR SPRAGUE ILL.

His Condition in Paris Said to be Critical.

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 26.—William Sprague, the aged "war governor" of Rhode Island is reported as critically ill at the residence of Sebastian Schlesinger in Paris a former Boston man in Paris. Former Governor Sprague went to France, accompanied by his wife, last February, after the burning of their home, "Canonchet," at Narragansett Pier. At that time the war governor, who passed his eightieth birthday last Monday, declared he was going to enjoy life; that he had given up too much time to reading Dante, Homer and other writers, and had not lived enough in the sunlight.

THREE BODIES FOUND.

All Hope of Rescuing Miners Alive in Providence, Ky., Given Up.

PROVIDENCE, Ky., Nov. 26.—All hope of rescuing alive any of the 11 miners entombed in mine No. 3 of the Providence Mining Company here late yesterday, was dissipated today, when the rescuing party reached that portion of the mine where the explosion occurred. Under a mass of debris and in a gass filled chamber, which the government experts could enter only with their oxygen helmets, three bodies were found today. They were badly mutilated.

AGAINST THE PRESENT SITE.

Council Unwilling to Build a New Police Station There.

Salaries of Mayor and Aldermen Not Raised—Remission of Taxes Up Again.

Friday evening the Representative Council held its eleventh meeting of the year, counting the three held on the opening day as three. The matter of salaries of the mayor and aldermen was disposed of in the usual way, the suggestion of an increase not being seriously considered. The report of the police station committee received extended consideration. The second report if the committee was read, and plats of the proposed sites were on the walls and were explained by Mr. Tanner. The Council seemed to agree with the committee that, of the sites presented, that on Market Square selected by the committee, was the best. Still, there was a fairly strong feeling that something ought to be done toward improving the approaches to Newport. Just where the police station is to go, or what can be done at Ferry wharf to better conditions, were questions left unanswered, but the majority of those present and voting were against deciding at once to go ahead with the station on the site selected. The vote stood 75 nos to 52 ayes. This means that less than 39 per cent of the membership of the Council voted no, and of course a very much smaller percentage voted yes.

Tax matters again came up. The Council showed no objection to remitting certain small personal property taxes when reasons were given for such remission. It balked on the alteration of the tax books for alleged irregularities of assessment. This was referred to the city solictor for an opinion as to whether or not the Council could remit a tax once it had been assessed. Various other matters were disposed of, the Council waiting without signs of unrest until every matter of business ready for presentation had been considered.

When Chairman Burlingame called the meeting to order and the roll was called 115 responded. There might have been some error in this count, for some of the members in front talked so loudly that it was almost impossible to catch the voices of members. Later, when there was another roll-call on the matter of a police station site, a member was talking in the very front so that he did not hear his own name called.

The first business was the matter of salaries of mayor and aldermen. Mr. J. B. Sullivan moved that the salary of the mayor be $1,800. Mr. Garrettson, a former occupant of the position, said he saw no reason for a jump of $600, and moved that it be the same as before, $1,200. The chair, according to rule, put the larger sum first, and it was voted down. Then the salary was fixed at the old figure, $1,200. For the aldermen Mr. Sullivan moved that the salary be $900. This was voted down and the salary was fixed at $500, the same as last year. The resolution fixing salaries was then adopted.

The report of the committee on new police station was read by the city clerk, and is as follows:

To the Honorable the Representative Council of the City of Newport:

Your committee, appointed March 9, 1910, to take up the matter of a new police station, begs leave to report as follows:

The committee submitted its report to your honorable body on August 4, 1910, when it was read and copies ordered printed for distribution to the members. On August 24, 1910, the report being taken up for consideration, the following motion was offered and passed:

"That the committee on police station be asked to report to the Council a plan for one or more sites and a building for a police station as an alternative to the report they have made."

In accordance with this vote, your committee met on September 6, 1910, and has since held several meetings. Notwithstanding the fact that previous to making its original report the committee had given the matter of the site for the proposed building the most careful consideration, the subject was again taken up and all the sites that have been offered to the committee, as well as those suggested to the members through the daily press and otherwise, have been looked over and the merits and qualifications of each investigated and studied. Our report on these sites follows:

Moorcroft Site.

The Moorcroft property is situated on the corner of Marlborough and Meeting streets and measures 69 feet by 69 feet 2 inches. The owner of this property is not anxious to sell, but will do so and asked $14,000 for her estate. The committee considers the location as not central, the lot is too small by 25 feet either way for the proposed building, and in addition a petition has been circulated and signed protesting against the erection of a station house in this locality.

Levitre Property on West Broadway.

The committee finds that this lot is not large enough. The location is not suitable as a site for a police station, being too far from the centre of the city. The cost of this land would be about the same as that of the Bosworth property which was included in our original report, namely $3,000, or 50 cents per foot.

Site on Prospect Hill Street.

The McDermott property, so called, now owned by William Hansen, measures 100 feet front on Prospect Hill street and 75 feet in depth. This location in the opinion of your committee has nothing to recommend it as the proper place for a police station.

Greene Property, Long Wharf.

Mr. Fred W. Greene offers the site owned by him situated on Long wharf and Northam avenue. This property measures 50 by 70 feet and is offered for $7,000. Light and air would come from the north and south and one side. The lot is not large enough for the proposed building. We do not think the location a fitting one, as it is near the sewer head and difficult of drainage and in addition is not central.

Water Works Property, West Marlborough Street.

This property has been considered, although the Water Works Company are not offering the land for sale. It is on the south side of West Marlborough street, next to the fire department headquarters and directly opposite the Basin lot, so-called. The Water Works Company has large buildings

NEITHER SCORES IN FIRST HALF.

Army and Navy Nip and Tuck for Two Periods.

Several Tries for Placement Goals, But All Fail.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 26.—The Army team came on the field at 1:55 and was followed a moment later by the Navy. The two teams were greeted by tremendous cheering. The Army won the toss and chose the west goal, with a stiff wind at their back.

Dalton kicked off at 2:06 to the Army's 5-yard line and Dean carried the ball to the Army's 25-yard mark. Browne gained 2 yards around the Navy's right end. Dean punted to the Navy's 45-yard mark. Rodes failed to gain for the Navy on an end run. An Army man was laid out for a moment.

When play was resumed Dalton kicked to the Army's 20-yard line. Dean immediately returned the kick on the first down to the Army's 50-yard line. Dalton again booted the ball to the Army's 3-yard line. With the ball only a foot from the Army's goal Dean was forced to punt from behind his own goal line. Rodes caught the ball on the Army's 40-yard mark and ran it back 15 yards. It was the Navy's ball, on the Army's 25-yard mark.

Dalton failed to gain and then dropped back for a try for a goal from placement, from the 31-yard line. The kick was blocked, but the Navy retained possession of the ball on the Army's 23-yard mark. Dalton made 2 yards through centre and a moment later added 3 more. The ball was only 20 yards from the Army's goal and Dalton again prepared for another try for goal from placement. He missed the attempt by a few feet. The ball was brought out to the 25-yard mark and put in play.

On a fake Surles went through left tackle for 2 yards and Dean then punted to the Navy's 35-yard line. Clay caught the ball and ran it back 5 yards. Dalton punted to the Army's 40-yard mark. Dean made a short kick to Dalton, the latter bringing the ball back 15 yards to the Army's 42-yard line. A bad pass to Sowell put the Navy back to centre field. It was the Navy's ball on the third down, with 12 yards to gain.

Dalton kicked to the Army's 20-yard mark. On a fake kick Dean carried the ball 6 yards around right end. Dean punted to Sowell, on the Navy's 45-yard mark, and the Army secured the ball. Dean was thrown for a 5-yard loss, on a fake kick. Dean punted to Clay, who ran the ball back 15 yards. It was the Navy's ball, on their own 22-yard mark. Dalton kicked to Surles, who signalled for a fair catch. The quarter ended with the ball in the Army's possession, in mid-field.

Score—Navy 0, Army 0.

The second period began with the ball in the Army's possession in mid-field. Dean gained 1 yard through left tackle, and then kicked to Rodes, on the navy's 25-yard mark. The ball was carried back 5 yards to the Navy's 35-yard mark, and was given to the Army, on the Navy's 45-yard line, on a penalty. Surles went through centre for 3 yards and Browne through the same place for the same distance. It was the Army's ball, on the Navy's 40-yard mark.

Surles was injured on the last play and McDonald went in for him. Dean tried for a goal from placement, from the Navy's 45-yard mark, but missed by a few inches. Dalton kicked to the Army's 40-yard mark, where Dean was dropped in his tracks. Dean lost 3 yards on an attempt to go through centre and then kicked to Rodes, on the Navy's 20-yard mark. Clay kicked to the Army's 40-yard mark, where the Army fumbled and the Navy secured the ball, only 35 yards from the Army's goal.

Rodes was thrown for a loss of 4 yards. After a failure to gain through the line, Dalton attempted a goal from placement. The ball went wild and was put in play on the Army's 25-yard mark. Dean went around the Navy's end for 5 yards, being thrown hard by Browne. The latter was injured in the tackle, but resumed play.

Dean booted the ball to Rodes, in mid-field. Clay immediately returned the punt to the Army 15-yard mark. Hyatt, who caught the ball, was thrown hard by Herring. McDonald failed to gain around left end and Dean kicked to Rodes, who caught the ball on the Army's 47-yard mark. Clay kicked out of bounds on the Army's 20-yard mark.

Dean kicked to Clay, who signalled for a fair catch on the Army's 50-yard mark. Dalton elected to try for a goal from placement from the 50-yard mark. The ball fell a few feet short and was again put in play, on the Army's 25-yard mark.

Hyatt on a fake kick gained 10 yards around the Navy's left end. Dean kicked to the Navy's 45-yard mark and Rodes fumbled the ball, but a Navy man fell on the ball, on the Navy's 50-yard mark. The ball was given to the Army, for interference on their own 40-yard mark.

Dean failed at centre, but kicked to Clay on the Navy's 25-yard mark and the Navy's halfback carried it back 20 yards. Dalton kicked to the Army's 15-yard mark where an Army man fumbled. Gilchrist fell on the ball, only 10 yards from the Army's goal. The ball was in the Navy's possession, on the Army's 10-yard mark, when time was called for the first half.

During the first half the Army was almost continuously on the defensive. Neither side showed much ground-gaining power and both resorted constantly to the kicking game. The Army's handling of punts was superior to that of the Navy. The nearest either side came to a score was when the Navy had the ball, on a fumble, only 12 yards from the Army's goal, at the close of the first half.

TRADE ON CONSERVATIVE BASIS.

Future Orders Come Forward Freely in Certain Lines.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Despatches to R. G. Dun & Co. indicate that business operations are conducted on a conservative basis, but current trade is well sustained, and future orders come forward freely in certain lines. Buyers still operate cautiously at Boston, although the distribution of merchandise shows some further expansion. Demand for cotton goods is quiet and there is renewed talk of curtailment, but steady improvement appears in all branches of woolen goods.

Bank clearings this week reflect further improvement and the progress toward betterment noted last week is maintained, total exchanges at all leading cities in the United States being $2,377,908,582, a loss of 5.7 per cent compared with a year ago but a gain of 1.0 per cent over the same week of 1908.

THE OIL SUPPLY PLANT.

Work of Preparation at the Coaling Station Under Way and Showing Good Progress.

The work of preparing the oil supply plant at the naval coaling station at Bradford is going right along. The bottom and the first course of the gasoline tank have been set up and riveted and the riveting of the similar portion of the fuel oil tank is in progress. As soon as these sections are tested for leaks and made tight they will be lowered to their foundations and the work will continue. They are each to be 32 feet high, are of half-inch iron plates and surrounded by high earth embankments, which will be drained into the bay. The material for the pipe lines, 8-inch for the gasoline and 12-inch for the fuel tanks, is on the ground.

The New England Foundation company completed setting up its plant today for the driving of the concrete piling for the pump and boiler house and will begin next week to drive the piles. It would have begun today, except for the necessity of testing the cement. The pump house will be located on a pitch of ground on the water front, north of the coaling trestle and west of the power station. The tanks are just north of the power station. The pipe lines lead from the tanks through the pump house to the head of the coaling pier.

erected on this property and an extensive system of pipe testing is also maintained there. Should this land be desired the water company would want the city to buy 75 feet on Marlborough street back to the south line of their property, some 150 feet, and also the land between that and back of the fire station. This would comprise about 13,000 feet and would cost $1.75 per square foot, or about $23,250. The property is large enough and no difficulty would be found in securing light and air, but even if the expense were not so prohibitive we are of the opinion that the location is not a central one and therefore not suited to the needs of the city.

Corner of Marlborough and Farewell streets.

This property belongs to the Dennis heirs and is not offered for sale, although the owners say they will consider an offer from the city of Newport. This lot is 86 feet 6 inches long and 56 feet 7 inches wide and is situated on two streets, Marlborough and Farewell. The use of this site would require very little change in the committee's plans, necessitating only the change of the fire escape from the rear of the building to the Farewell street side. However, there would be danger of having light and air built out on the north and east sides and the location of a police station here would meet objection of petitioners in that neighborhood. This is also another site that cannot be considered central.

Sites between Bowen's and Ferry Wharves.

Your committee tried to find a location in this neighborhood, a suitable location that would not entail too great an expense. Across the roadway from the police station on Ferry wharf there are two blocks about 20 feet deep, and parallel with them and on Bowen's wharf are several buildings about 18 feet deep, then a roadway and then coal sheds.

The station could be put on this land, running east and west, without much changing of the plans. Light and air could be secured on all but the east side. If the station were built end to Market square, it would take up the land across Bowen's wharf, the roadway and the land occupied by the coal sheds to within three feet of the south water line of the wharf. This would require the moving of the head of Bowen's wharf, so the coal yards would be practically rendered useless. The expense would be very great, estimated at $45,000.

We do not believe that the people of Newport want a public building and a handsome building placed out of sight on such a location as this. We consider this location to be a poor one, the expense to be too great, and especially do not see fit to sacrifice a portion of the water front, which is so valuable in this locality for fire protection.

Sherman Property, Long Wharf.

This suggested site is a narrow strip of land running parallel with Long wharf with wharf on the south. The owner does not offer this property for sale and upon being approached upon the subject said that in his opinion it should not be used as a site for a police station, but rather at some future time should be cleared away, and the widening of that side of Long wharf might be accomplished. This site is not recommended by the committee as there is not sufficient room if the building were to be put east and west, and if placed north and south the building would cross the south wharf. We consider it unwise to place such a public building across a wharf for many reasons, one of which is that the water front is all needed for our fire protection, as at all fires near Thames street the salt water is used to great advantage.

The Old City Hall.

The site of the old City Hall, corner of Thames street and Long wharf, measures 65 feet by 38 feet 4 inches. The plans for the proposed new building call for a station 80 feet long, and this is about as small as the building could be made, so it will be readily seen that the next property west would also have to be taken in order to get the necessary room, and even then there would be no chance for light and air on the west or south and the 20 feet we would have in the south would give neither light nor air enough. There are also several sewers which would have to be taken out and changed. The objection of business men in the neighborhood would have to be met, as they consider the location of a station house there as detrimental to their business and property. The building is very well but brings in an annual rental of $900, standing for a value of $11,000.

New Position of Police Station.

In our original report we recommended that the new police station be erected on the lines of the present station. Upon further consideration we think the best plan, of more benefit to the whole neighborhood and especially to the Jamestown Ferry Company, that the front line of the station be carried 30 feet to the westward and the whole building carried 20 feet to the north. This would give ample room on the north for the carriages and an even wider roadway on the south.

Some members of the Council expressed a wish for a chart showing this change and such a chart has been furnished by us by the city engineer. We are also indebted to the city engineer for other plats showing the proposed station located on the sites discussed in this report. It will be noticed on the site recommended that the north line swings to the west considerable and the south line goes to the south, thereby assisting materially in the widening. By the proposed change we could have wider roadways and could make the new sidewalk wider. This would require taking 40 feet of the ferry company's land.

Recommendations.

We recommend that the station be built on the old site with the above changes; that the city secure all the land owned by the ferry company, now occupied by the Adams Express Company, using what is needed and leaving the rest open to all; that our other recommendations, with the changes noted, be carried out.

After the reading of the report the chairman read a petition signed by James S. Groff, Joseph Cooper and others protesting against the purchase of the Moorecroft site, on the ground that it would injure adjoining property and be a nuisance to residents of that locality.

Mr. Tanner, of the committee, then explained the various sites, plats of which hung from the walls. First, Mr. Kerr asked why the committee had selected plans when it was asked to present sites, and Mr. Cozzens asked where the Jurgens site on Mill street was. Mr. Tanner said the committee was expected to present plans. Mr. Kerr said the Jurgens site was selected to on account of the proximity of the Mill Street school, and had been considered in the first report of the committee, made some time ago. Mr. Tanner then explained the various sites discussed in the report. The Water Works land on West Marlborough street, adjoining fire department headquarters, was first. This meant a width of 75 feet on West Marlborough street, the whole depth and the section to the south of fire headquarters. The Water Works has a building on this land and a testing station under ground, both of which must be provided for elsewhere. The asking price is $1.75 per foot, which includes the value of the land and the cost of changes. This makes a total of $23,250, too large a sum; and besides the site is outside of the centre.

The site at Marlborough and Duke streets occupies five house lots. One house could be sold, bringing the price down from $21,200 to about $20,000. The same objections urged against the Moorecroft site would be urged against this.

Next came the Moorecroft site. The land will not accommodate the present plans, as they would project the building either into Prison street or into the jail land. The cost is $14,000.

The location on the south of Market square, extending to Bowen's wharf, was taken up and shown to be objectionable for various reasons.

The old City Hall site is not large enough. The proposed building would extend halfway on the property next west, and it is narrow. There is strong objection to the use of this site by business men.

The Bosworth land on West Broadway and Tilden avenue, costing 50 cents a foot, was considered out of the way.

The Dennis land on Marlborough and Farewell street would give room, if a strip of the Friends' land were taken. The same objections urged against the Moorecroft property would lie against this. No price had been fixed on this by the owner.

Mr. Fearing said this proposition gives an opportunity to improve one of the principal entrances to the city and it seemed that the city should take advantage of it and do something at this time toward improvement in the matter of entrances. If no suitable site were offered the city could condemn land and have a building planned to suit the land. It is not necessary to look for a lot to suit the present plans.

Mr. Tanner continued, explaining the proposed plan for utilizing the land on Ferry wharf, from the plat. He showed the improvement in the width of the roadway on both sides of the station, by moving the building 20 feet to the west, or toward the water. This would give more room on both sides. Then there would be an open space to the west, which would help toward the ferry landing. There was no question but a satisfactory building could be erected on this site, and the committee believed it had planned a building which would be satisfactory. The committee had taken the time to put everything in it and the building would be complete in every respect. On the first floor would be the offices, cell room and stable; on the second the guard room, offices and a juvenile section; on the top floor the sleeping rooms.

Mr. Perry referred to the report of the Committee of Ten, to show that the present site is not fit for a station.

Mr. Peter King asked what would be the cost of the land to be taken from the Jamestown Ferry Company. Mr. Tanner said the committee had tried to secure a price from the company, but had not received a reply. There is but one way to obtain it, by condemnation. What the price would be he could not tell, but the committee in its estimate had made sufficient allowance for this. As in the matter of plans, the committee had consulted the city solicitor in this regard and followed his legal advice. He had said that, to report properly to the council, under the resolution under which the committee was appointed, it must secure plans and an estimate under those plans.

Mr. King thought the committee had done a great deal of hard work and deserved the thanks of the Council. He moved that it be discharged. Only three or four votes were cast for this proposition.

Mr. G. G. King felt that the committee had worked hard and had tried to do the very best possible to present the matter to the Council. He believed, however, that this offered a great opportunity to beautify one of the main approaches of the city and hoped the city would seriously consider this feature. It should be the desire of the citizens to do what they can to beautify the city and make it more presentable to visitors. He believed other sites could be found and suggested that the committee be asked to look still further into the matter. It is not necessary to have one to suit the present plans; these can be altered.

The report of the committee was re-

The Record in Newport is a Unique One.

If the reader has a "bad back" or any kidney ill and is looking for relief and cure, better depend on the only remedy endorsed by people you know. Doan's Kidney Pills relieve quickly—cure permanently.—Newport citizens testify to this. Here is a case of it:

..P. S. Bosworth, 35 Spring St., Newport, R. I., says: "My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills occurred two or three years ago. At that time my kidneys were very weak and resulting from this was an almost constant pain in my back. The kidney secretions were also irregular in passage and added greatly to my annoyance. Hearing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended, I was led to procure a supply at Wright & Hay's Drug Store and I can say that the results of their use were very satisfactory. Should I ever have need of a kidney remedy again, I would at once get Doan's Kidney Pills, knowing that good results would follow their use. Several weeks ago I gave this remedy to a friend who was suffering from kidney complaint and its use proved exceedingly beneficial."

Clarence—Why, the same girl promised to be a sister to both of them!

Madge—I hear that Charlie is an awful spendthrift.

Marjorie—I should say he was. He's trying to make two wild oats grow where only one grew before.—[Puck.

Violette—I wish you would tell me how to get this pitch off my dress. I have tried everything I can think of.

Reginald—You might try a song. You always get off the pitch when you sing.—[Judge.

"Your sister's a long time about making her appearance," suggested the caller.

"Well," said the little brother, "she'd be a sight if she came down without making it."—[Cleveland Leader.

"Now, sir, what do you think of that?" said mother after she had boxed Bobbie's ears.

"I don't think at all," replied the youngster. "My train of thoughts has been delayed by a hot box."—[Boston Transcript.

"Do you think our newly elected friend will be able to do much?"

"I dunno. He had such a fight gettin' the nomination an' another fight gettin' elected that I expect he'll need a heap o' rest when he's in office."—[Washington Star.

Edith—Mercy! Here's a telegram from Jack. He's been hurt in the football game.

Ethel—What does he say?

Edith—He says: Nose broken! How do you prefer it set—Greek or Roman?—[Boston Transcript.

"Sir," tartly says the lady of uncertain age to the floorwalker, "is there any way of getting one of those salesmen to pay me more attention?"

"Well," says the floorwalker, confidentially "I'll introduce you to any one of them you fancy; but I'll tell you now that all of them have their 'steadies.'"—[Judge.

EXCLUSIVE ASSOCIATED PRESS SERVICE FOR NEWPORT.

THE POLICE STATION PROBLEM.

Again the Representative Council has shown by a decisive vote that it is not in favor of the committee's plan for a new police station on the site of the present building on Market Square. The decision will undoubtedly meet the approval of a majority of the citizens of Newport, who for one reason or another do not think it wise to put a new building on the location of the old, with a continuance of the present unsanitary conditions and an opportunity lost to open Market Square to the harbor. The committee, in its supplementary report, quite evidently reached its conclusion as to the desirability of other sites on a basis which had the one favored by the committee as its foundation stone. It had adopted a site, and plans for a building to be placed on that site, but its conclusions did not appear to the Council fair to the other architects, and the feeling that other plans might be adopted was a natural one. The committee apparently did not try to fit the proposed building to any site except one, but was seeking to fit the site to the building which had been planned.

Just what will come from the controversy is decidedly problematical. The opponents of the Market Square site are not agreed upon any other location, and it is doubtful if any other would be favored by a majority of the Representative Council; and yet it is evident that a new police station is needed and some plan must be agreed upon for a new structure. It is also evident that the present committee will not present a plan which will be adopted by the Representative Council, and equally evident that next year a new committee must be appointed to try to do what the present committee, working as honestly and diligently as it has, has been unable to accomplish.

THE TRAMPS' UNION.

The American Federation of Labor has no sense of humor or it would have refrained from incorporating into its membership what it calls the "Migratory Laborers' Union". This, if it exists at all is the union of the hoboes. "Migratory laborers" sounds impressive. There is no doubt about the migratory part, but a man would violate all the rules of that union if he labored. Offer a job to a "migratory laborer" and he will migrate rather than labor. He is on the road. He has the "wanderlust". He would lose his standing with all his companions of the highway if he demeaned himself by work.

What is the Federation of Labor going to do with or for the "migratory laborers?" Will it order a general strike if they are locked up in the town jail? Will it call out the real workers if these tramps shall be set by the constables to sawing wood or shoveling dirt? If the "Migratory Laborers' Union" should adopt rules regarding the character of "hand-outs" would the American Federation of Labor support their demands upon the community by threatening a general tie-up of industries unless the householders comply?

The "Migratory Laborers" can hardly have any interest in establishing a union scale of wages or limiting the hours of employment, as they refuse to earn wages or subject themselves to any sort of employment. They desire food, are especially anxious for beer, and demand the right to travel free on the railroads—the only class since passes were outlawed which has claimed this exclusive privilege. Except a few—a very few—garments and sufficient refuges of a simple sort in cold weather, these are about all the requirements of the migratory enemies of labor in all its forms and it would be interesting to see the American Federation of Labor supporting its new union in its demand for free pie, frequent beer and occasional trousers. Perhaps no man will be recognized as having a right to tramp unless he carries a union card. The fraternization of the workers with the men who will never do a stroke of work except under compulsion is at least entertaining.

FOREST CONSERVATION IN GERMANY.

Germany is the country where forest conservation has reached its best state, and there the real thing in that line can be observed. It has not an extensive domain, as is well known, hardly more land being included within its borders than is covered by two of the larger states here, and yet there is not trouble about the conservation of forests. The reason is that the Germans have realized that, though the forests are quite extensive, their possible area is limited by the size of the country, and therefore the utmost care must be taken for their preservation, so that the timber cut from them shall not be wasted and they may continue to be a source of income. This conservation is accomplished by the only known method, a complete system of wardens whose duty it is to care for the forests and see that the trees are cut only according to their plan and under their direction. This system is so thorough that it is safe to say that not a tree is cut in any forest there, at least for commercial purposes, without the permission of the warden, and consequently there is not the slightest waste of lumber.

To one accustomed in this country to the wholesale slaughter of trees, and indeed of whole forests, for commercial purposes it seems strange in Germany to see paper mills in operation in the heart of the forests, with no sign anywhere about that the forests are being denuded and the land despoiled. The reason is that the cutting of timber is controlled by the wardens and every tree to be cut is marked by them and no others can be touched. This means careful attention to the age and condition of the trees and discrimination in cutting, with the idea of permitting all to reach their best growth before they are felled. It also means that no more cutting is permitted in a single year than the equivalent of a year's growth of the whole forest, so that there is no waste but the amount of standing timber is maintained at the same ratio from year to year.

This is treating the timber crop like any other. It would be considered the height of folly to permit the wasting of any other crop raised from the ground so that it could not be renewed from year to year, but until recently in this country there has been apparently no conception that timber should be treated as a crop. The idea seems to have prevailed that it was simply a supply of material which needed no conservation or care to secure a continuous growth, so that it should never fail as a natural resource and an important means of revenue for individuals and the state. In Germany they must have learned that lesson long ago and have acted accordingly for conservation of forests has reached the highest point of development there and valuable object lessons can be obtained by a visit to the forests of that land.

Perhaps in this country we should have realized the truth sooner if we had had a smaller area of timber lands and if they had been more compact instead of widely scattered. In Germany the forests are contained within such a small area that it was more easily appreciated that care was needed in order to preserve the timber and save it from unnecessary and wanton destruction. Here the forests are widely distributed and it was possible for sections of woodland in one part of the country to be devastated by the axe and the people of other sections to be ignorant of such a proceeding. It was only when the situation was considered from a national standpoint that the truth was realized and the danger appreciated, and then conservation began to receive the attention needed and which had been delayed long beyond the point of safety.

HAECKEL OUT OF THE CHURCH.

The most startling piece of news since the report that the Dutch had taken Holland is the formal announcement of Professor Haeckel of Germany that he has withdrawn from the evangelical church. It will surprise many persons to learn that the professor has until recently been connected in some capacity with the evangelical church, or, in fact, that he was ever connected with any church at all.

Haeckel is sometimes called the German Darwin, but he has been sure for a long time that he knew many things which Darwin wasn't certain whether anybody knew or not. Haeckel's position has been considerably beyond that of the agnostic who is merely sure that no one can know anything which he cannot see, hear or feel. Haeckel has been very sure that he knew that most of the things to which religious people attach importance are not so.

His "Riddle of the Universe" has never been recognized as the work of a writer connected with the evangelical church. On the contrary, it has pretty generally been regarded as about the most pronounced and unqualified piece of materialism to be found anywhere. It is as the leader of the materialists that Sir Oliver Lodge has traversed the writings of Haeckel. In fact, Haeckel has been regarded less as a leader than as a survivor of the materialists, for unquestionably the materialistic philosophy is in not nearly so good standing as it was 20 or 30 years ago. Many of the most eminent men of science now find that religion is not nonsense or delusion. Lodge in particular has been prominent in checking the claims of materialism and giving the belief in the supernatural a standing in the scientific world. The attitude of the scientists of 1910 is very different from that of those of, say, 1880. Haeckel is not being influenced by this movement toward the more modest claims of science and toward the recognition of the possible truth of religion, and yet it appears that it is only now that he has felt compelled to withdraw from the evangelical church. Those great German thinkers are unquestionably remarkable persons.

The new Pennsylvania railroad terminal in New York, which has the distinction of covering more territory than any other building ever constructed in the history of the world, will be fully opened to the public tonight, the first train running out of the station at 12:02 for Jersey City, to be followed immediately by a full schedule of 61 trains east-bound to Brooklyn and 56 west-bound under the Hudson in each 24 hours. The new station is likely to become not only a great convenience to travel but one of the big sights for visitors to New York.

John Bigelow is one of the grand old men of this country. He was 93 years old Friday, and his only regret was that the anniversary came the day after Thanksgiving, so that he must take two days away from his work. He has recently completed a book on the high cost of living, with the title "The Folly of Building Temples of Peace with Untempered Mortar." Whatever the title Mr. Bigelow's books are worth reading.

President Taft is diligently at work on his message, which will be ready when Congress meets December 5. In the meantime politicians and others desiring political favors are not given much attention at the White House. They are mostly unable to catch the President's ear, even for a few minutes.

In the fifth successive decade the population of New York state has shown a larger percentage of increase than in the immediately preceding census. Will it be able in the next ten years to add to the 24.5 per cent gain between 1900 and 1910?

The war is on today. The Army and Navy football teams are battling for the supremacy, and after the contest there will be peace and harmony between the two branches of the service—at least until another football season comes.

There is a strong under-current of interest in the municipal election manifest about the city. It will undoubtedly come to the surface in the next few days, as a lively contest is believed to be imminent.

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Rev. Philip M. Rhinelander of the Cambridge Theological School will preach at the Berkeley Memorial Chapel during Advent.

Owing to the bad weather Friday, there was no meeting of the Oliphant Club.

Mr. Johnson E. Whitman of Paradise avenue is confined to his home as a result of an attack of erysipelas of the limbs.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Peckham entertained a large family gathering Thanksgiving day at their home off Wapping road.

It has been proposed by Rev. Latta Griswold, rector of the Berkeley Memorial Chapel, to run a barge through Paradise and Green End avenues and through Wapping and Third Beach roads, for the accommodation of those who desire to attend church but do not find it convenient to go in other ways.

During the absence abroad of Mrs. Eugene Sturtevant and her daughter, Miss Helen Sturtevant, who for a long period of years have conducted Bible classes at the Berkeley Memorial Chapel, their positions will be filled by Mrs. Edward P. Lake of Newport and Mr. Harold M. Arrowsmith of St. George's School.

Mrs. Phebe Smith and her daughter, Miss Louise Smith, of Providence, formerly of Middletown and Newport are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alden P. Barker on Paradise avenue.

BANANA MEN INDICTED.

The federal grand jury has returned an indictment against the officials of the El Progreso Banana Company, which had been railed by Postoffice inspectors. The indicted men are Frank G. Watrous, president of the banana company; Rev. Claude M. Severance, a director; Oliver W. Simmons secretary and treasurer; Horton L. Harvey, vice president, and William L. Sanders secretary and treasurer of the International Finance Company, which acted as "fiscal agent" for the banana company. The indictment charges a scheme to defraud by misrepresenting the resources and prospects of the banana company by means of letters and circulars sent through the mails.

Plans for Consecration of Bishop Perry, in Providence.

Movement to Re-Organize Battery A—Blown from Manhole of an Oil Tank Car.

Rev. James DeWolf Perry, Jr., rector of St. Paul's Church at New Haven, Conn., will be consecrated as bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Rhode Island at St. John's Church, Providence, January 6. The consecrating bishops will be Rt. Rev. Daniel Sylvester Tuttle of St. Louis, Mo., presiding bishop of the American Episcopal Church; Rt. Rev. Cleland Kinloch Nelson of Atlanta, Ga., and Rt. Rev. Edwin Stevens Lines of Newark, N. J. Bishop Lines's selection recalls the fact that he was formerly rector of the church over which Rev. Mr. Perry now presides. The presenters at the consecration service will be Rt. Rev. David Hummell Greer of New York, formerly rector of Grace Episcopal Church, Providence, and Rt. Rev. Benjamin Brewster of Connecticut, the head of the diocese of which Rev. Mr. Perry is now a member. The consecration sermon will be preached by Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, head of the diocese of Massachusetts. Among those present will be Rev. James DeWolf Perry of Philadelphia, father of the bishop-elect, Rev. Edmund S. Rousmaniere of St. Paul's Church, Boston, formerly rector of Grace Church, Providence, and rectors and curates from many parishes in this state, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

In order to reorganize Battery A, Rhode Island National Guard, to comply with the requirements of the War Department, a mass meeting has been called for next Tuesday evening in the Providence Marine Corps of Artillery armory. At this meeting the issue of re-organization will be presented and prominent men of the state in speeches will touch upon the various aspects of the situation. The present artillery material will be explained by an officer and future plans fully discussed. It is stated that the adjutant general has received a report from Colonel E. M. Weaver, in command of the division of militia affairs, to the effect that he condition of Battery A is such as to compel the government to call for its immediate reorganization, to take place by February 1, 1911. Failing in this, the battery is to be ordered disbanded and its material transferred out of the state. The inefficient condition of the command is attributed by the report to two causes: First, lack of discipline; second, the failure to comply with the government's standard as to the number of enlisted men and the requirement that this number shall comprise the drivers as well as the cannoneers of the battery. Briefly, the plan of those in charge of the re-organization of the command is to recruit the battery to at least the minimum standing, consisting of 113 non-commissioned officers and men, and to enlist and train men in horsemanship who will be able to serve as drivers and as cannoneers.

Hurled like a ball from the cannon's mouth, with his oil-soaked clothing a mass of flames, Hugo Maneschi, 19 years old, was blown from the manhole of a tank car by an explosion of gas within the tank, which was being filled with crude oil in the yard of the Texas Company on Allen's avenue, Providence, Friday afternoon. He died late in the evening as the result of the burns received. Maneschi was at work on the tank car, attending to the process of filling it with oil of a heavy quality. He lowered a protected incandescent electric lamp through the manhole into the tank in order to see how nearly full it was when gas, filling the space between the oil and the top and mixing with the oxygen from without, exploded with a report heard for miles around and lighted the sky with an upward streaming of flame like a volcano in eruption. The young man's act in lowering an electric light into the tank was in accordance with usual practice at the yard and was deemed perfectly safe. The actual cause of the explosion has not been determined.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Burnham of Edgewood celebrated the fifty-seventh anniversary of their marriage in their home Thursday. It was strictly a family affair, on account of the rather poor health of the aged couple. Mr. Burnham was married in Lawrence, Mass., Thanksgiving day, November 24, 1853, to Miss Caroline A. Swett, the officiating clergyman being the bride's father, Rev. Simeon T. Swett, D. D. On her mother's side, Mrs. Burnham is also related to the Tyler family and is a member of the Tyler Family Association. Mr. Burnham was a "forty-niner." In company with 13 others he purchased sailing vessel Astoria, leaving Gloucester, Mass., December 12, 1849. After enduring many hardships incident to a long cruise, the vessel entered San Francisco harbor May 20, 1850, having been 158 days at sea. After selling the vessel the former owners and shipmates went their separate ways to the mines which were being opened throughout the new El Dorado in the early fall of 1850 Mr. Burnham started for home, owing to severe illness. His trip was much shorter than the outward one, as, instead of going by way of Cape Horn, he and the home-coming party walked or rowed across the isthmus. Mr. Burnham was born in Essex, Mass., March 19, 1827, on the farm purchased by his progenitors from the Indians about 1630. He is one of a remarkably long-lived family, several of his brothers and sisters, as well as his mother, passing their ninety-fifth anniversaries, while of his uncles and aunts several exceeded their one hundredth birthdays.

An adjourned meeting of the Warwick town council was held Friday night in Apponaug, and the members completed the list of appointments to minor town offices, with one exception, begun on the meeting of organization, Monday, November 14. The exception was that of special officer under the liquor law, the appointment being passed to a later date. The list of appointees, prepared beforehand, was quickly disposed of, and, as was expected, several changes were made, the most noteworthy being the deposing of Theodore S. Andrews and Dr. John A. Mack as chief of police and health officer, respectively. In place of the former, John Albert Anderson of Centreville, received appointment, and Dr. Charles A. Chagnon of Arctic was named as health officer. Mr. Anderson, for some reason not made public, failed of appointment as either constable or police constable, and, as the council voted to appoint no more constables "on or after this date," some special action on the part of the council will be necessary before the newly appointed chief can enter upon the full discharge of his duties. Dr. Chagnon, the newly appointed head of the health department, is a member of the council, also a member of the school committe and has the distinction of holding more offices in the town than any of his fellows. Stephen A. Greene of Norwood was appointed coroner to fill the unexpired term of Charles C. Fanning.

The case against George W. Russell of Cranston, under indictment for violation of the United States law governing the sale of oleomargarine, is to be compromised by the government, according to the present understanding and in accord with the provisions of the law which permits this to be done in such cases. Mr. Russell, who was indicted on five counts by the United States circuit court grand jury, has retracted his plea of not guilty to the indictment and pleaded nolo, with the understanding that the cases will be considered by the government for compromise. In the indictment Mr. Russell was charged with carrying on the wholesale business without paying the special tax, the sale in original packages of 40 pounds of oleomargarine without paying the special tax, fraudulent use for packing oleomargarine of a certain empty stamped package, and having in his possession a package bearing internal revenue stamps and neglecting to destroy the stamps as by law required.

Acting upon a report of Professor F. P. Gorham, the State Shell Fish Commission Friday condemned a second time the oyster bed numbered 18a in the Warren river. When the water above the bed was tested some time ago it was condemned. The lessee desired another examination of the oysters, and this was made with the same result. Dr. Pease of New York reported to Professor Gorham that he had examined several beds at the request of owners, and had found them in good condition. The board ordered them accepted as good and certificates were issued. The beds examined were those numbered 137, 166, 178, 181 and 184.

THE WEATHER.

BOSTON, Nov. 26, 8 A. M.—Forecast for Boston and vicinity—Fair tonight and Sunday; moderate to brisk northerly winds, diminishing and becoming variable.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

During the past 24 hours there have been scattered light snow flurries or light rains in southern and eastern New England, and at a few stations in the Lake Region and the St Lawrence valley. The unsettled weather that prevailed in northwestern districts, for several days, continues. The disturbance that was central at New York city Friday morning has moved northeastward. A ridge of pressure slightly above the normal extends from the upper Lakes southward to the eastern Gulf of Mexico. The depression that was located in Nevada yesterday has moved eastward to Colorado. The temperature is lower in all of the Atlantic coast districts, otherwise there has been little change. The lowest reading reported during last night in New England was 28 at Northfield, Vt. In New York at 8 a. m. it was 38, Washington 40, Jacksonville 54, St. Louis 42, Chicago 36, Kansas 50, Denver 44, San Francisco 44 and Portland Oregon 38.

THE CYCLOPS CARGO.

Question Whether to Discharge It by Lighters or Send the Big Collier to Europe.

The appearance of the big naval collier Cyclops in these waters and the failure to unload her at Bradford has started no little discussion, not only in naval circles here but in Washington, and the wires have been warm with official correspondence. The incident, while at first seeming to reflect upon the equipment of the plant at Bradford, is not open to criticism of that sort, it is said by those who know the situation. The station has the most modern equipment and it is cleared that, while she cannot be discharged in the usual way at Bradford, she cannot be so discharged at any of the other government coaling stations.

Her design is such that it would seem as if the naval architects had wholly overlooked the possibility of the desire to discharge her at a dock. If her 24 derricks permitted her to come alongside a dock and the rigging of the hoisting derricks over her hatches, there would still be insurmountable difficulties, for her derricks are tied together with a perfect gridiron of braces, which would imperil the working of buckets through it to the hatches. Much of the set up of this top hamper is of a fixed nature so that there is no clearing ship for action, as they would say on a battleship, which will permit clearing for her discharging.

It is even reported that there was trouble with loading her with this first cargo and that it is impracticable to take her under commercial loading chutes. When it came to loading hundreds of tons of coal had first to be placed on barges, and then put into her by her own derricks until she had been settled in the water so that it was possible to bring her under the chutes. While the loading and discharging of the ship at the shore has shown serious difficulties in her construction, a practical demonstration of the work of the craft at sea in coaling war vessels has yet to be made. Features of her equipment have been worked out in practical trial to the satisfaction of some naval officers, but a test of the ship in its entirety in this work is still a thing of the future.

Friday night it was thought that it would be best to discharge the ship at Bradford by the aid of lighters, which of course would mean a great deal of work and be a slow undertaking. Preparations were made to this end and this morning the cars were out on the superstructure, prepared to take the coal from the barges to the bins. This work was ordered off while a discussion was taken up in regard to ordering the ship to Europe, to supply the battleships cruising in those waters. Such a change would mean the filling of the collier's bunkers at the station for her long cruise.

JUDGE LINDSEY'S WORK.

His Juvenile Court in Denver and the Friends and Enemies He Has Made.

Harvey J. O'Higgins, in the introduction to "The Beast," by Judge Lindsey says:

"Judge Lindsey is known to the world at large for his work in the juvenile court of Denver; and, to his little courtroom there, come children's society agents from all parts of the states, visitors from England, officers from Germany, and government officials sent from Sweden, Austria, France and Japan, to study his laws and learn his methods. But to himself, to Denver, to his friends and—most of all—to his enemies, his famous juvenile court is only an incident, a side issue, a small detail in the man's amazing career. For years he has been engaged in a fight of which the founding of his juvenile court was only the merest skirmish.

"He has been offered bribes that might buy a millionaire. He has been promised a career in politics, a fortune in law. He has been given the hope of wordy preferments that might seduce the highest ambition. When these have failed to win him, he has been threatened with all the punishments that the most unscrupulous power and the bitterest hate could conceive. His life has been threatened. Special laws have been introduced at the state capitol against him. At times the very lights in his rooms at the court house have been cut off—as the last and smallest annoyance of spite—and he has had to go to the corner drug store at night and buy himself candles to continue his work!

"And why? For what has he been fighting? What terrible thing has he sought to obtain? Read his story. It is a story that is true not only of Denver but of any other American city in which a Lindsey might appear. And it is a story of achievement. The list of reforms he has obtained, charities founded, public improvements instituted and political steals balked, shows nearly 100 items. He has obtained nothing for himself but the praise and support of some citizens of Denver, and the curse and enmity of others.

"Rev. Henry Augustus Buchtel, chancellor of Denver University and ex-governor of the state of Colorado, in the year 1904 coupled his name with Christ's—no less—and in the year 1907 called him, through the newspapers, 'a nincompoop' and a 'fool dog.' Those are the two crowns that have been offered him; a halo and a fool's cap. Which shall it be? To which is he entitled in the eyes of the democracy whose battle he is helping to fight?"

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The second round in the first whist series at the Boys' Club was played Friday evening in the club rooms on Narragansett avenue. The play was remarkably close, only 4 points separating the four teams, which held their relative positions with No. 3 in the lead. The scores for the evening were: No. 3, won 52, total 122; No 1 won 51, total 113; team 2 won 51, total 90; team 4 won 55, total 83.

Miss Bernice Miller, formerly of this place, sailed Friday from New York for Porto Rico.

Miss Bessie Logan, of Hartford, is guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Clarke, on Clinton avenue.

Mr. J. J. Watson, Jr., of New York, made a short visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Watson, on West Narragansett avenue.

Mr. Giles Gardner, who was a guest at the Carr homestead for Thanksgiving, has returned to New York.

Mrs. John Manchester, of Portsmouth, is guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Anthony on Greene lane.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES DANCE.

The classes of 1911 and 1912 of the Rogers High School gave an enjoyable dance Friday evening in the school gymnasium. A large number were present, including many guests, and a number of graduates and their friends were in the gallery during the evening, watching the dancers.

The chaperones, who received in a corner of the gymnasium, were Miss Lucy P. Brownell, Miss Ruth B. Franklin, Miss Elizabeth B. Peckham and Mrs. Lulu Z. Roderick. During the evening, punch and wafers were served, the refreshments being in charge of Mr Minkley 1912. Mr. John H. Greene, Jr., took the place of President Nolan, who was not present. Smith's orchestra supplied the music.

The Senior entertainment committee, which included the class officers, was as follows: Misses E. Owens, G. Carey and W. Sullivan; Messrs. J. C. E. McLennan and J. T. Harrington, Jr. The Senior officers are John H. Nolan, president; Miss M. O'Hanley, vice president; Miss L. Parsonage, secretary; John H. Greene, Jr., treasurer; Miss Almyra Coffyn, assistant treasurer.

On the Senior Middle committee were Misses A. Price, Julia Johnson and H. Muenchinger and Messrs. H. C. Anthony, Charles Eddy and Charles L. Sherman. The class officers are John Hoar, president; Miss M. Smith vice president; Miss M. Halpin, secretary, and Lloyd Robson, treasurer.

LAYING THE WATER-TABLE.

At last work is being done at the Army and Navy site which suggests to the average public inspector that the men are really constructing a building at that point, though to many it is rather confusing to see why it is that such stone are going in just now. They have taken full note of the big hole in the ground, and later through peep holes seen what seemed to be staging erected, but how it was that Friday and again today deep loads of granite water table have arrived on the scene, and today this course was being laid, puzzles them.

Bricklayers for more than a week have been working on the underground walls, out of sight behind the barricade. When these stones, called the water table, which is the first course above the surface in this case, arrived the walls were ready to receive them. To most people the setting of this stone is the first real evidence that the building is actually under construction, even though the first floor is on and conditions are about ready for the second story. The building so far as structural strength is concerned, is going up in the wooden forms and will be of concrete and steel. The walls are but a sheathing and carry none of the loads of the building proper.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. Henry Redmond has returned from New York.

—The public schools will re-open Monday, after the Thanksgiving recess.

—Mrs. John Nicholas Brown and Senator and Mrs. Wetmore went to New York today.

—Mr. P. J. Healy returned to Rhode Island College this morning, after spending the holidays with his parents.

—The license commissioners were around Friday evening, inspecting the places which have applied for licenses for the coming year.

—Mr. Benjamin Whitten has arrived at Miami, Fla., whither he was bound in a small yacht, leaving New York some time since.

—The vacuum cleaning car of the Old Colony system has arrived at the local barn, to give the cars of this division a cleaning next week.

—At the police station this morning a man desired a warm and comfortable home for the winter, and was given six months at the state workhouse.

—A. A. Berger, John M. Walsh and F. A. Forbes of New York, G. F. Savage and J. H. Palmer of Boston, John Gardner of Buffalo and Frank Goodwin and W. H. Robinson of Philadelphia are registered at the Perry House.

—The insurance loss on the dwelling and furniture of Arthur L. Green has been adjusted at $7,387. The property was insured through the agency of Henry Bull, Jr., in the American of New Jersey and the Niagara of New York.

—A mining engineer from the Rhode Island Coal Company at Portsmouth went to Jamestown today on a prospecting tour and found coal on the west shore in larger quantities than has been found at Portsmouth. It is probable that an organized effort will be made to develop the coal discovery.

—There has been a change in weather conditions. They are strictly on the winter schedule today, and yet the thermometer does not show it. The chilly and stiff northwest wind does, and it feels like winter outdoors. The northwest storm signal was put up this noon.

—Friday Deputy United States Marshals Stone and Bellou came from Providence and took the three soldiers charged with assisting in the larceny of the wire recently stolen from Fort Adams. They were lodged at the county jail until just before the departure of the 5:13 train.

—John A. Kane of this city chauffeur for Benjamin Thaw, ran down a 10-year-old girl named Abbie Hauck on Ninth avenue, New York, Friday night. He took the injured girl to the Roosevelt Hospital, where her condition was reported to be grave. Kane said the girl evidently became confused and ran directly in front of the automobile.

—Secretary Andrews of the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association announces the receipt of contributions of $1 each to the popular fund for the furnishing of the dining room of the new building from Master Theodore Gibbs Holcombe, Miss Lillie Barret Knut, Mrs. E. B. Gibbs, Mrs. W. G. Holcombe, Mr. Cecil Barret and "A Friend."

—Coronet Council, Royal Arcanum, after its regular session Friday evening held "open house" and entertained a number at whist. There was a good attendance of members and the whist prizes, handsome pipes, were awarded to Messrs. Robert McIntosh, Allen C. Griffith and Harry Taylor. After the whist a Dutch luncheon was served and an hour spent in social intercourse and games.

—A crack was discovered in the cross-head of the high-pressure cylinder of steamer Plymouth and notice was sent to the repair shops to have steamer Priscilla ready to go on the line today. This was done. The Plymouth arrived from Fall River about noon and just before 12:30 the Priscilla pulled out from the dock and went to Fall River, to take the place of the Plymouth until repairs are made.

—Today is the anniversary of the blizzard of 1908, which began Saturday afternoon, November 28, and continued well into Sunday, November 27. The storm blew over a portion of the hose tower on West Marlborough street, and did a great deal of damage to poles, wires, trees, etc. It was the storm which caused the loss of steamer Portland, and generally tied up things about Newport as well as elsewhere.

DUE TO SHORTAGE OF CROPS.

Cabinet Decides Against Temporary Abolition of Import Duties on Wheat.

PARIS Nov. 26.—The cabinet today decided against a temporary abolition of the import duties on foreign wheat and other cereals, which had been proposed because of the shortage of the French crops.

A DINNER FOR THIRTY.

Provided by John Dontopolous for the Inmates of the Children's Home.

John Dontopolous—"John the Greek," as he is known—entertained the inmates of the Home for Friendless Children at dinner in Odd Fellows' hall this afternoon. The 30 children, under the direction of Mrs. Ethering, ton, the matron, and four nurses, were seated at one table in the dining room, under the direction of Captain Allen C. Griffith, and served with a bountiful menu including chicken soup, scallops, roast fresh ham with potatoes, turnips, green peas and apple sauce. Then came ice cream in fancy forms, in imitation of turkeys, chickens and birds; a small basket of fruit for each child and a fancy box of candy. The dinner was served by Caterer Peace, formerly of the Clam Bake Club, and there was no one among the children to find fault with the viands or the way they were served.

Mr. Dontopolous also gave the matron a sum of money to buy something for each child. "John" is the oldest among the Greeks of Newport, having come here 27 years ago, and is well known for his kindness to those in need and his ready assistance in all times of distress, not only among his own people but among others of whose need he may hear. He gave the dinner to the children because he felt that it would be acceptable, and also because he desired to give it.

BIG SAVING IN THE NAVY.

Secretary Meyer Declares That Change in Paymaster General's Methods Is Justified.

The change in the administrative methods of the paymaster general's department of the navy, by which the purchase of supplies was consolidated under the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, has been justified, in the opinion of Secretary Meyer, after a five months' trial. Congress gave to the Secretary two years in which to demonstrate the wisdom of his plan, but Mr. Meyer claims that it is already apparent from a business and economical standpoint.

The old plan, it is said, resulted in the overstocking of navy yards and stations with supplies, while under the new scheme supplies for the navy are bought in bulk and distributed as needed. The various branches of the service pay for these supplies as they receive them, and with this money the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts replenishes its stores.

THE PLYMOUTH AND A TOW OF BARGES.

According to the report of the captain of tug R. M. Waterman, which arrived at Providence Friday, the tug and her tow of two barges had a narrow escape when entering the bay Thursday night. The tow was bound north and steamer Plymouth was on her way from Fall River to this city. As the latter swung across from the west side of Rose Island to enter Newport harbor she passed to the south of the tug. The two loaded barges were behind.

There was call for quick action. The captain of the tug stopped, allowing the hawser to drop, and the captain of the leading barge sprang forward and seized the axe which is always ready to cut the hawser, if necessary. The big boat passed over the hawser and everything was all right. For a few minutes, however, there was some anxiety on the tug and barge. Had the Plymouth struck the hawser the barge would have been turned over, probably, but there was at no time any danger to the big passenger boat.

STILL FLY THE RED FLAG.

Mutinous Vessels of Brazilian Navy Return to the Harbor.

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 26.—The mutinous vessels of the Brazilian navy, which put to sea yesterday to await positive assurance of the government's good faith in granting their demands for naval reforms and full amnesty, spent the night outside the bar, returning to the harbor this morning. The warships were still flying the red flag, but the crews made it known that they would be turned over to the authorities, according to the terms of surrender agreed upon at noon. New commanding officers have been appointed by the mutineers.

SHIPPED FROM NEW ORLEANS.

Schooner Attempts to Land Arms for Rebels at Sero La Marina.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 26.—It is reported from Tampico today that an unnamed schooner is attempting to land arms for the rebels at Sero La Marina. The supplies are believed to have been shipped from New Orleans via St. Louis. The government has sent a gunboat to the scene. Fighting occurred at Ciudad and Guerrero, near Chihuahua, Wednesday. The rebels made three attacks and several of them were killed and others wounded in hand-to-hand struggles with federal soldiers. The government troops triumphed. At midnight Wednesday, San Andres, 50 miles from Chihuahua, was attacked by rebels, who tore up the railroad track. The place was defended by a small garrison. Troops have been sent thither.

UNFIT FOR HUMAN CONSUMPTION

Six Men Charged With Shipping Filthy Oysters from the State.

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 26.—Charged with shipping out of this state oysters that were "filthy, decomposed, and putrid animal substance, unfit for human consumption," six oyster men appeared before Judge Arthur L. Brown in the federal court here today. All pleaded not guilty and were held for trial. A charge was also filed against Hartley and David A. Atwood of Boston for the same offence, but neither appeared.

A DORMITORY FOR NURSES.

Memorial Hospital Accepts Pawtucket Estate Given by Mrs. Goff.

PAWTUCKET, Nov. 26.—The trustees of the Memorial Hospital today accepted from Mrs. Daisy B. Goff of orange, N. J., a gift of the home of her late husband, Lyman Thornton Goff, in this city. Mrs. Goff is the daughter of Henry Graves of Orange, N. J., and her husband was one of the largest manufacturers in Rhode Island. The estate is taxed for $36,000 and includes two and one half acres of land and is to be used as a home or dormitory for nurses.

MEDICINE PROVES FATAL.

Pawtucket Woman Takes An Overdose of Oil of Wintergreen.

PAWTUCKET, Nov. 26.—An overdose of oil of wintergreen proved fatal to Mrs. Dora Blanchard Roy of this city today. Mrs. Roy had been feeling indisposed and some one recommended the medicine. She was 27 years old and leaves a husband, Joseph Roy, a mill worker.

OKLAHOMA'S POPULATION.

Census Gives 1,657,155, a Big Increase Over 1907.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The population of the state of Oklahoma is 1,657,155 according to statistics of the Thirteenth census, made public today by Director Durand. This is an increase of 242,978 or 17.2 per cent over 1,414,177 in 1907. The population of the counties containing the principal cities is: Oklahoma 85,232 compared with 25,915 in 1900, and Logan 31,740, compared with 26,563 in 1900.

AGAINST THE PRESENT SITE.

ceived and the chairman read the resolution accompanying the report which if adopted would put the machinery in motion for a new station. The first resolution directed the Board of Aldermen to proceed with the condemnation proceedings against the land of the Jamestown & Newport Ferry Company to the west of the police station, 71.5 feet deep to the west and the entire width north and south between roadways. When this was secured the board was to advertise for plans for the construction of the stables for the station and award the contracts to the lowest responsible bidders, separate bids being asked for mason work, carpentering, painting, plumbing, heating and cell work; the station to be built according to plans and specifications furnished by J. D. Johnston, architect.

There was also another resolution, providing for the issuance of bonds to the amount of $45,000 for the construction of the station. They were to be serial bonds, bearing four per cent interest, and to be in serial issue, one bond being paid off each year. There were to be 23 of those bonds, No. 23 for $1,000 and the other 22 for $2,000 each.

This brought the question down where a vote could be taken. Mr. Tanner, for the committee, again spoke in favor of the building which the committee has designed, saying it would suit for the purposes intended and an ornament to the locality. In regard to the location, he said the committee had felt there were other sites; indeed had felt there were other sites; indeed had gone all over town within a reasonable radius of the centre, and had been unable to find another suitable site. One of the committee, Mr. W. W. Sherman, had felt strongly that another site ought to be had, but had finally come to the conclusion that the site selected is the only one. The committee was unanimous in the final decision. There was another member who had felt as strongly as Mr. Sherman about a change, but he had to come to the same conclusion. The committee had nothing to do with the matter had nothing to do with the matter of Tuft's report. It was charged with preparing a plan and location for a new police station, which had been called for for 15 years, and had made the best report it could. The land made the best report it could. The land would be a fit building, could be made all right in this site, and would be a benefit to the locality.

Mr. Fearing supported the idea of Mr. G. G. King and suggested that the present City Hall is the laughing stock of architects. The proper place for the police station, in his opinion is close to the jail. A site could be had and plans made to suit the site.

Mr. J. H. Sullivan, of the committee, defended its action, and said it had acted honestly in trying to give the city the best possible plan. He spoke of the strenuous work of the friends of the Jamestown Ferry Company to influence members and said Newport should try to do the best it can for Newport and not try to suit Jamestown. The chairman ruled that this was outside the lines of discussion, but Mr. Sullivan said it was an important feature of the matter. In his opinion the location of the station as proposed would greatly improve the location. The committee believed there were plenty of other sites, but after a great deal of hunting had changed its mind. In his opinion the opening of the poor looking buildings would be a decrement rather than an improvement to that location and Marlborough square would be more presentable and a better approach with the station situated as proposed than if the site were abandoned, the land thrown open and the unpleasant vista of old buildings on the square and on the Jamestown Ferry land were exposed to view. He believed there would be objection to any site selected; there seems to be objection to this proposed site that is no objection to any site selected; there seems to be objection to any site selected.

Dr. Ramsay suggested that the report be printed and sent to members for consideration. He did not think the members were ready to act finally on one reading of the report.

Mr. Flanagan argued for doing what can be done to enter to the Jamestown trade. It is the only trade in Newport county which comes to Newport; all other goes to Providence or Fall River. Jamestown has some 3,000 visitors every summer and they spend at the money they spend in Newport; with local business men. He felt that it was the duty and the interest of Newport to do what it can to improve conditions. Suppose it does cost $20,000 to secure another location; that is a small matter for a corporation doing the business Newport does. He also believed that the sum required could be taken from the taxes of one year by economy, and that a bond issue is not necessary.

Mr. Franklin asked for another reading of the resolution before the Council, and suggested that no limit was therein placed on the cost of the building. The Board of Aldermen was directed to proceed with the condemnation proceedings against the land of the Jamestown & Newport Ferry Company to the west of the police station, 71.5 feet deep to the west and the entire width north and south between roadways. When this was secured the board was to advertise for plans for the construction of the stables for the station and award the contracts to the lowest responsible bidders, separate bids being asked for mason work, carpentering, painting, plumbing, heating and cell work; the station to be built according to plans and specifications furnished by J. D. Johnston, architect.

There was also another resolution, providing for the issuance of bonds to the amount of $45,000 for the construction of the station. They were to be serial bonds, bearing four per cent interest, and to be in serial issue, one bond being paid off each year. There were to be 23 of those bonds, No. 23 for $1,000 and the other 22 for $2,000 each.

This brought the question down where a vote could be taken, Mr. Tanner, for the committee, again spoke in favor of the building which the committee has designed, saying it would suit for the purposes intended and an ornament to the locality. teams from the West Point and Annapolis Academies, which will clash on Franklin Field this afternoon, after a lapse of two years. With perfect football weather, and with both teams full of the fighting spirit that pervades the two great institutions, which the players represent, a hard and high class football game is looked for by the nearly 30,000 persons who will witness the contest.

The Army and Navy game rings down the curtain of the football stage in the East and the game has heretofore invariably furnished the most brilliant spectacle seen in this section during the football season. Washington society journeyed to Franklin Field in force and everybody who can get away from the war and navy and other departments, at Washington, will be found in the stands. Army and navy officers, active and retired, living within 1,000 miles around Philadelphia, are here to root for their favorites, and Army contingent will occupy the south stand and the Navy the north. Because of the death of his son, Secretary of War Dickinson will not attend the game, but his private box will be occupied by Mrs. William H. Taft and her daughter and other friends, whom the Secretary of War had invited to accompany him to this city. The army will be officially represented by Assistant Secretary of War Oliver, who has a box close to that reserved for the head of the War Department. The honor of the Navy will be upheld on the opposite side of the field by Secretary of the Navy Meyer and a large number of other members of that arm of the national service. Philadelphia society will also be largely represented.

The Army is a slight favorite in the little betting that has been observed, but the Naval contingent is taking all the money that is offered. Both teams this year have played consistent football and they enter the game on as near an equal footing as any elevens that have ever represented the two institutions. The cadets have played seven games this season and the midshipmen eight, and each has scored a total of 96 points. The Annapolis team has the proud record of not having been scored upon, while but nine points, a touchdown by Harvard, and a field goal by Yale, have been tallied against West Point, which has had a schedule of harder games. The coaches report their respective teams in fine physical condition and confident.

The teams meet under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania, which was instrumental in bringing the two academies together in 1899 for annual football games, after a break of six years. Last year's game was cancelled because of the death of Player Byrne, from injuries received in a game played at West Point. Today will be the fifteenth time that teams representing the two academies have met on the football field. Of the 14 games played the Army has won 7 and the Navy 6 with one contest a tie.

BIG DEMAND FOR RALLIES.

Fons to Begin Campaign Against Lodge at Cape Cod Next Week.

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—Governor-elect Eugene N. Foss, announced today that his speaking campaign against the re-election of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge will begin early next week, with rallies on Cape Cod. Mr. Foss said today that the demand for rallies was far more extensive than was at first anticipated, and that while the election lay entirely with the already chosen members of the legislature, it was the purpose of these meetings to show the new members the sentiment of the people generally.

A Republican member of the legislature stated today that he was undecided as to the senatorship for the reason that he had yet to learn that Senator Lodge was an avowed candidate, and if he were a candidate the member thought that Senator Lodge ought to publish his record in the senate and defend it, as do many of the members of the legislature seeking re-election.

At the headquarters of Senator Lodge, at Hotel Tourraine, the attitude of Mr. Foss brings forth no comment, and the general situation is said to be more and more encouraging. There is no intimation that the speeches of Mr. Foss will be answered except through the efforts of Mr. Lodge's lieutenants in the legislature. President A. T. Treadway of the Senate, Speaker Joseph Walker of the house and Representative Norman H. White of Brookline, who was one of the house leaders last year.

TO PROBE OFFICIAL ACTS.

San Francisco Mayor Furnishes List of Those Responsible for Reports.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—In a letter to the grand jury, Mayor P. H. McCarthy called on that body to begin forthwith an investigation of his official acts to determine whether any foundation exists for rumors which, he says, have been persistently circulated by political enemies, that he recently accepted two bribes of $10,000 and $60,000 respectfully. The mayor furnished the grand jury with a list of "certain responsible citizens" who he alleges have circulated the statement. The mayor's letter continues:

"As an embellishment of the story * * * * it is asserted that with proof of these crimes I have been waited on by three local newspaper editors, and have been told that as soon as the Panama-Pacific exposition matter is settled my resignation as mayor would be accepted by the trio of editors unless they conclude in their wisdom to bring the law on my dishonored head."

TAFT NOT TO WITNESS GAME.

National Capital Sends Large Delegation to Army-Navy Contest.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Important engagements and work on his annual message will prevent President Taft from seeing the Army-Navy football game at Philadelphia today, but Mrs. Taft and Miss Helen Taft, as well as a host of army and navy officers and their friends, will make up the national capital's delegation to the contest. Vice President Sherman and a number of Senators and representatives will be among those at Franklin Field.

Secretary of War Dickinson will be unable to attend the game, because of the death of his son, but he has turned over his box to a number of friends, among whom are the Italian ambassador, Brigadier General Crozier, chief of ordnance and Brigadier General Clarence R. Edwards, chief of the bureau of insular affairs.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer and his assistant Beekman Winthrop, will represent the Navy Department at the game, while th Army will be supported by Robert Shaw Oliver, assistant Secretary of War, General Leonard Wood, chief of staff, General James Allen, chief signal officer, Adjutant General C. F. Ainsworth, and Inspector General E. A. Carlington.

LATEST NAVAL NEWS.

Movements of Vessels Reported to the Department.

WILL FIGHT THE DEMAND.

About 16,000 Shoe Operators May Soon be Forced Out of Work.

LYNN, Mass., Nov. 26.—There is a possibility that 16,000 shoe operators employed by 22 shoe manufacturing concerns in this city, will soon be forced out of work, as a result of a demand made on the manufacturers by the business agent of the Laste s and Lasting Machine Operatives Union, that beginning December 1 a new price list on two grades of high toe last shoes be put into effect. The increase demanded on one grade of shoes is one cent per pair, while on the other a two cent per pair increase is demanded. The manufacturers declare the increase demanded is unreasonable and intimate that they are going to fight the demand. It is also said that several of them are thinking seriously of leaving the city before they will pay the increase. The Lasters and Lasting Machine Operatives' Union is affiliated with the United Shoe Workers' Union of America.

NO IMPROVEMENT SHOWN.

E. Benjamin Andrews Critically Ill at a Nebraska Sanitarium.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 26.—Since his return several weeks ago from an extended foreign tour, E. Benjamin Andrews, former chancellor of the University of Nebraska, and also president of Brown University, Providence R. I., has been a patient in a local sanitarium. His condition, it was learned last night, is not improved and his friends are concerned over what is regarded as a critical ailment.

DISCUSSED IN REICHSTAG.

Emperor William's Speech at Koenigsberg in August Taken Up.

BERLIN, Nov. 25.—The Reichstag was occupied today with a discussion of the speech made by Emperor William at a provincial dinner at Koenigsberg August 26, during his tour of eastern Germany. The varied and conflicting sentiments aroused by his remarkable utterances, intimating a continued belief in the divine right of kings, were given full play. The debate, participated in by Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg and the leaders of all parties, was bitter throughout. In his Koenigsberg speech the emperor, after saying that his grandfather had seen in himself the chosen instrument of heaven, and so proclaimed that the Prussian crown was bestowed upon him by God's grace alone, intimated that the convictions of Emperor William I and his own were identical and added:

"Considering myself as the instrument of the Master, regardless of passing views and opinions, I go my way, which is solely devoted to the prosperity and peaceful development of our fatherland."

Herr Ledebour, Socialist, supported the Socialist interpellation inquiring what the chancellor thought of the emperor having departed from his declarations made in November, 1908, through Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg. Following the emperor's famous interview two years ago His Majesty approved a statement in the Reichstag by the chancellor, who expressed "The reverential wish that greater reserve be displayed in the future in making such utterances."

Herr Ledebour demanded that the emperor should not interfere in the affairs of the state, contrary to the provisions of the constitution, and declared that "The king-emperor cannot attempt to rule against the opinion of the people. Either he must put aside his personal opinion or the monarchical system will be eliminated."

Replying, Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg defended the emperor and asserted that the Socialist interpellation was inspired by a Republican sentiment rather than by anxiety for the integrity of the state. The chancellor denied that the Koenigsberg speech constituted a breach of any promise that His Majesty had made in 1908.

LOSS ESTIMATED AT $20,000.

Fire Occurs in Heart of Brockton's Shoe Manufacturing District.

BROCKTON, Mass., Nov. 26.—Considerable excitement was caused today, in the heart of the shoe manufacturing district in this city, when a wooden building on Main street, occupied by a blacksmith shop, carriage painting establishment, and storeroom for carriages, was destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $20,000, with partial insurance.

The large wooden factory of the Churchill & Alden Shoe Co., is separated from the burned building by only three feet, but the sprinkler on the outside of the factory building saved it. The employes of the shoe factory, numbering about 700, were ordered to leave the building, while the fire was in progress, which they did without disorder. The burned building was owned by James C. Keith, a horse trader, who occupied the store room. Thomas McNiff occupied the blacksmith shop, and George E. Sears, the carriage painting shop.

ELEVATOR MACHINERY FAILS.

Firemen Climb 15 Flights to Fight Blaze Among Spoiled Silks.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The failure of the elevator machinery, in a 16-story loft building in West Twenty-fifth street early today, forced a squad of firemen to climb 15 long flights of winding stairs to reach a fire which had started in the store room full of spooled embroidery silks. The delay incident to the watchman's attempt to carry the firemen aloft in the elevator gave the fire a good start by the time the hose was coupled up and water poured in on the blaze. Four hundred thousand spools of embroidery silk were destroyed and several thousand dollars damage done to the building.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26, Wall Street—The market opened with Amalgamated Copper 69½, American Smelting and Refining 80¾, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe 103¾, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 77¾, Canadian Pacific 195¾, Chesapeake & Ohio 84¾, Chicago, Milwaukee & St Paul 124½, Colorado Fuel and Iron 34½, Interborough-Metropolitan 20½, Northern Pacific 116¾, Pennsylvania 120½, Reading 162¾, Rock Island 33¾, Southern Pacific 117¾, Union Pacific 177¾, United States Steel 79¾.

10—The fluctuations shown by the opening prices of stocks were too feeble to indicate any decided trend in the market. Dealings were on a very small scale. Narrow gains and losses were mixed. Pacific Mail advanced ¾.

11—The market drifted along in an aimless fashion and was inclined to droop, although none of the representative stocks varied more than a quarter from the opening. United States Steel, Union Pacific and Reading accounted for most of the small business. Allis Chalmers preferred advanced 1 and United States Rubber lost 1¼.

Closing—The market closed steady and lifeless. Prices drooped from inanition, but the selling was wholly unimportant and the decline halted. The only sentiment perceptible was one of importance for the close of the session. Money on call, nominal, no loans. Time loans very dull and easy; 60 days and 90 days 4 @ 4¼ per cent; six months 4 @ 4¼ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 5½ to 5¾. Sterling exchange soft at $4.82.15 @ $4.82.25 for 60 days bill, and at $4.86.05 for demand. Commercial bills $4.81½ @ ¾. Bar silver 55⅛. Mexican dollars 46. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds steady. Exchanges $291,038,907, balances $14,931,460. For the week (5 days) exchanges $1,547,538,251; balances $74,127,731.

THREE TIED IN WEEKLY SHOOTING MATCH.

The scores made by the rifle club Friday evening during the regular weekly shoot were well bunched. The weather was not good for high records but the interest was still there, especially when it was seen that the first four men were shooting well together and finished only one point apart, three being tied for first place. Brooke, Almy and Cogeshall finished with 454, with Diesel at 453. Henderson was next at 450. Thurston 448, Peckham 445 and Easton 436—all good scores considering the bad wind. There was not time to shoot off the tie, and it will be shot off at the next regular shoot. The scores:

Almy,	232	222——454
Brooke,	230	224——454
Cogeshall,	224	230——454
Diesel,	221	229——451
Henderson,	227	223——450
Thurston,	223	225——448
Peckham,	228	217——445
Easton,	214	222——436

MILDRED ROGERS IN "THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER"

Mildred Roger's voice has been compared with that of Madame Svalski in her prime and she is accounted today one of the most conspicuous dramatic contraltos in this country. So charmed was she with Oscar Straus's music, and her part of Aurelia in "The Chocolate Soldier," that she gave up a contract with Mr. Dippel of the Metropolitan Opera Company in order to join the Whitney Opera Company.

Miss Rogers studied abroad with Bertelmy, in Paris, who was Caruso's coach, and under various other masters in Berlin and Vienna. For several years she was the contralto in the Harvard Church, Brookline, and last year was the prima donna contralto with Henry Russell's Boston Grand Opera Company, with which she sang such roles as Azucena in "Aida" and "Azucena" in "Il Trovatore." Her only other appearance in light opera, strangely enough, was in another of Straus's operas, "The Waltz Dream." Her voice, dramatic fire and personal charm add much to the rendition of "The Chocolate Soldier."

RICHARD T. WILSON.

Dies at His New York Residence from Heart Disease.

Prominent in Newport's Summer Life and His Family Active in Social Affairs.

Mr. Richard T. Wilson, a well known summer resident of Newport, whose serious illness was reported in Friday's News, died at his residence on Fifth avenue, New York, early this morning of heart disease. He had been ill a long time, but had come to Newport each year leaving his summer residence in September. In 1885 Mr. Wilson purchased the William R. Travers estate on Narragansett avenue, which he improved and had since made his summer home, coming here early and remaining until late in the autumn. About four years ago his health failed and he was seen less frequently on the avenue, where his tall, soldierly bearing and handsome appearance made him a familiar figure. He continued to come here, but his illness made it necessary for him to drive about and last summer he was able to be out but little. His wife died a little more than two years ago, and her death had a noticeable effect upon his strength. During his illness one of his daughters was constantly with him. When he left this autumn for New York he was taken in a special hospital car, and had since failed steadily.

Mr. Wilson was 62 years old and was born in Hall county, Georgia, spending his early days in Tennessee and Kentucky. He joined the Confederate army at the outbreak of the Civil war and won the rank of commissary general. As the fiscal agent of the Confederate government he went to Europe and was active there until the end of the war. In the early sixties he went to New York and established a cotton and banking firm. He became associated in large financial enterprises with the late Morris K. Jesup and other prominent financiers, and in conjunction with them organized the Southern railway. He retired from active business about six years ago.

Mr. Wilson married Miss Clementine Johnston of Macon, Ga., a member of a prominent Southern family, who was for nearly 50 years a leader in New York society. Their children formed a remarkable chain of marriages among the best known families of New York. The eldest daughter, Mary, became the wife of Ogden Goelet; the eldest son, M. Orme Wilson, married Caroline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Astor; the second daughter, Leila, was the wife of Michael H. Herbert, an attache of the British embassy, who later became Sir Michael, was prominent in the British diplomatic service and ambassador to the United States when he died. The youngest daughter, Grace, married Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., the eldest surviving son of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, who, being displeased at the marriage of his son, set him aside and gave the bulk of his property to Alfred G. Vanderbilt. The younger son, Richard T. Wilson, Jr., married Miss Marion Mason, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. Lawrence Mason of Boston.

Not only had Mr. and Mrs. Wilson been prominent in Newport's summer life but their children have also been a prominent part of the social activities of this city for many years. Lady Herbert, although living in England, was a frequent visitor here; Mrs. Goelet owns "Ochre Court," and Mr. Orme Wilson, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., and Mr. Richard T. Wilson, Jr., have also been here for a number of years, either as cottage occupants or visitors. Mrs. Goelet remained at her villa the past season unusually late, to be with her father, and returned with him to New York. Both Mrs. Goelet and Mrs. Vanderbilt were with their father when he died.

LOBSTER PROPAGATION.

J. M. K. S. Replies to E. W. B. and Discusses the Meaning of the Word "Hatched."

To the Editor of The News:

Under the above heading your correspondent, E. W. B., November 18 thinks my articles of November 7 reflects upon the methods of propagation at the Wickford station. Nothing of the kind was intended. We claim to know nothing about the present method, beyond what was stated in an article presented in the Newport Mercury, and that and its statements we proposed to meet. The writer of that article we infer was a promoter of the law and now would fain make the people believe it really a success. Those in charge of the hatchery are compelled to act under the law, which is mandatory. That they have done and will continue to do the best possible we do not question.

E. W. B. corrects our figures as taken from the Mercury article, which made 2,003 green egg lobsters and makes it 3,500 green egg lobsters to be disposed of. We agree with E. W. B. that those put overboard will scatter about, but do so without regard to state lines. In regard to hatching, the Mercury said: "The method of lobster propagation carried on by Superintendent Barnes makes the lobster a thousand times more productive than if allowed to hatch its eggs under the conditions of nature."

E. W. B. tells us that "the hen lobsters are allowed at the hatchery to care for their own eggs until they are hatched," and this was what J. M. K. S. found the most satisfactory.

If the word hatched was meant to cover the period extending to the fourth moulting, then how can he reconcile the statement of the Mercury? That read as though the way of allowing the lobster to carry the eggs until hatched has been abandoned for a new and a more successful way. If the word hatched means to cover the period of rearing to the fourth moulting, and Mr. Barnes has so improved on the past methods as to accomplish such increase, we are very glad and congratulate him and the state on the achievement. But all this is to the credit of Mr. Barnes and not to the new law.

The fact is, as the Mercury says, the law was passed by a unanimous vote of the Assembly; therefore it must be right.

J. M. K. S.

Newport, Nov. 25, 1910.

AGAINST THE PRESENT SITE.

any one of us would as an individual do anything to injure his neighbor's property, when there was no good reason for so doing. Now, Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen, is it right for us collectively to do that which our conscience and good judgment tells us would be wrong if we were acting alone? As a Representative Council I sincerely hope that we may be considerate of our neighbors' rights, and careful not to unnecessarily do anything that will cause them loss or annoyance."

Admiral Chadwick suggested that the Board of Aldermen be asked for an estimate of the probable cost of the proposed plan before definite action is taken. There was some desultory talk, and finally Mr. Peckham said he believed the members had made up their minds sufficiently to come to a vote on the issue presented, and moved the previous question. That seemed to be the feeling of the Council as a whole and the previous question was called for. It was on the passage of the resolution directing the Board of Aldermen to proceed with the condemnation of the land and the erection of a building according to the plans submitted by the committee. The viva voce vote seemed close and Mr. Peckham called for the ayes and nayes. This was what the Council desired and the roll was called.

The motion was lost, 52 voting aye and 75 nay, as follows:

The second resolution, for the issuing of $45,000 in bonds, was laid on the table.

The other business on the chairman's table was then taken up.

Inspector of Buildings M. D. Sullivan made the following report in accordance with section 4 of Chapter 547 of the Public Laws, on the permits issued by him from April 22 to November 19, 1909.

Character of building	No.	Value
Residences and cottages	35	$540,686
Additions to buildings	79	54,652
Stables	7	58,725
Garages	9	121,000
Freight house	1	3,000
Army and Navy Y. M. C. A.	1	200,000
Greenhouses	2	17,500
Machine shop	1	2,000
Buildings at Easton Beach	3	16,700
Theatre	1	35,000
Gateways	2	4,600
Miscellaneous	7	1,550
Total	148	$1,056,293

This work has been at all times under my constant inspection and in all cases the proper parties have been compelled to comply with the building laws of the state of Rhode Island and of the city of Newport.

The report was received.

The collector of taxes reported on the small personal property taxes reported by him to the Council as unpaid, and by the Council sent back to him for further report, that 53 have since paid, 33 are dead, 102 are now paying on real estate, 33 have left the city, 3 are duplicates and 1 was not of age, leaving 84 still in course of collection. Under these conditions he considered certain taxes not collectible and asked that they be remitted and he be authorized to cancel them. The list included the 33 dead, of which 5 were for one year and 28 for two years; the 102 now owning real estate, of which 24 were for one year and the others for two years; the 33 non-residents, of which 7 were for one year and 26 for two years; the 3 duplicates, of which 2 were for one year only, and the 1 under age, for one year only. The total amount of the taxes against these names is $515.20.

Accompanying the report was a resolution remitting these taxes.

The reading of the list was called for and the clerk started. The first list was of dead people and it was suggested that the reading be omitted. Dr. Brackett, who had called for the reading, saw the objection. He said if the report asked that certain taxes be remitted for the definite reasons given—death, transfer to the real estate list, removal from the city, and duplication—he had no objection to offer. He did object to the remission of taxes in a lump, on the ground that they were uncollectible, without any definite reason why they were uncollectible. This seemed to be the idea of the members generally and the resolution remitting the personal property taxes as suggested by the tax collector was adopted without objection.

The tax assessors reported on the various petitions referred to them, in two reports. The first said that, through errors in addition in the make up of the tax book, P. H. Horgan and the Edward Newton heirs were taxed in 1907, 1908 and 1909 on $10,000, and P. H. Horgan in 1908 on $1,200 and in 1909 on $1,600, more than the amount for which they were assessed. Through errors in the assessment of 1910 the Newport Country Club was taxed for $15,000, the R. H. Carson heirs on $40,800, and Margaret Beegan on $700, more than their holdings. As under instruction from them, approved by the city solicitor, the collector of taxes accepted settlement of the several accounts as corrected, they ask that his warrant for the collection of taxes of the years 1907, 1908, 1909 and 1910 be amended to allow for the cancellation of the overcharges upon his books, as follows:

P. H. Horgan and Edward Newton heirs, $120 in 1907, $120 each in 1908 and 1909; P. H. Horgan, $15.60 in 1908, $20.80 in 1909; R. H. Carson heirs, $408; Newport Country Club, $480; Margaret Beegan, $7.80.

The second report recomended that taxes against William A. Jackson, $2.60 in 1909 and $2.40 in 1910; James Sheehan, $2.60 in 1909 and $2.40 in 1910, and Robert W. Atwater, $3.60 in 1910, be refunded, under the veterans' exemption law; that $84, erroneously assessed against the Joseph L. Bush heirs; $8.40, erroneously assessed against John W. Sterling and J. S. Melcher, be refunded; that $2.60 for 1909 and $2.40 for 1910, against W. B. Henderson and W. H. Sisson, be remitted, as they have acquired real estate; that $2.60, assessed against E. B. Dodge in 1909, be remitted; that $13, assessed in 1909 against the David Case heirs, and $12 in 1910 against Bridget Case, be remitted, on account of erroneous assessment. That Thomas G. Hazard, executor of the estate of Emily Lyman Hazard; Harriet J. Van Horne, Ingvart Anderson, Sarah H. Scott, Adele H. Turner, Emma B. Auchincloss and Arnold Hague have leave to withdraw.

Resolutions to carry these recommendations into effect accompanied the reports.

Mr. Congdon asked if the city solicitor would state how, under sections 14 and 15 of Chapter 58 of the Public Laws, the Council could remit any taxes after the assessment had been completed. He thought the only action was at law. The city solicitor said in his opinion the Council had the right to remit taxes under certain conditions, but he was not then prepared to give his opinion at length. The resolutions were laid on the table, pending the preparation of his opinion. There was an exception to this. The resolution remitting taxes on veterans of the war was passed, as it was under a special state law and the petitioners had complied with the law in appearing before the assessors.

A long communication was read from Louis E. Jallade, architect of the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association building, in which he called attention to the fact that the inspector of buildings could not approve the proposed roof construction of the new building under the present building ordinance. He quoted authorities to show that the proposed roof is such as is approved by the National Board of Fire Underwriters and by the Bureau of Buildings of the borough of Manhattan, as well as by the building inspectors of the principal cities. He suggested that under the circumstances a change be made in the building law of Newport, so that such construction of roofs as prevails in other cities may be allowed here.

Captain Cotton said he had talked with the architect and the inspector of buildings in regard to this matter, and he moved that this matter be referred to a committee of five, to report to the Council what if any action is recommended. The Council so voted.

Petitions of Thomas Blacklock, George G. Wilson, Anna C. Murburg and the Mills Tea & Butter Company, for reductions or remissions of taxes were referred to the assessors.

At the request of the Board of Health a resolution was passed, transferring from the appropriation for antitoxin the following sums: $50 to stationery and printing, $100 to fumigation, $10 to telephones and $340 to miscellaneous, all in the schedule of the Board of Health appropriation.

A communication was received from Councilman Richard Muller, tendering his resignation because he had moved to Washington. Mr. Dwyer had another and later letter from Mr. Muller, withdrawing his resignation. The Council decided that his resignation was withdrawn and no action was necessary. 5

On recommendation of the Board of Firewards the following transfers were voted in its schedule of items: $225 from salaries to hay and grain, $50 from salaries to apparatus repairs, $12 from extra horse hire to laundry, $41 from extra horse hire and $25 from care of hose to repairs to stations.

A resolution was passed, transferring $100 from incidentals to lighting City Hall. Mr. Horgan suggested that balances should be returned to the treasurer, but the members know the City Hall must be lighted if meetings are held, and there was nothing in the return line.

A resolution was passed, transferring $2,000 from land and other damages to ward meetings. This is to meet the extra cost of elections this year.

A resolution transferring $500 from incidentals to the appropriation for tax assessors was laid on the table. Dr. Brackett said he knew of no appropriation for tax assessors other than for their salaries. Captain Cotton said there had been a special one for some indexing. In the absence of Mr. Friend of the assessors the matter was laid over for explanation.

A petition from G. R. Fearing and G. R. Fearing, Jr., executors of the estate of Amey R. Sheldon, was returned by the tax assessors without report. It was stated that a representative of the petitioners had asked to be heard by the assessors but was unable to attend, and it was suggested that the petition be returned to the assessors to give the hearing. This was done.

The business on the chairman's docket had been cleared and he was ready for business which had not been in long enough for the docket. He started with a postal card from Miss Nellie McCann in regard to taxes, which was referred to the assessors. Similar action was taken with the petition of Christopher P. Stowell.

Petitions from J. Pendergast and others, for a granolithic sidewalk on the south side of Dixon street; of N. Boyle and others, for curbing and grading McAllister street, and of Nora Doyle and others, for repairs to Burns street, were referred to the street commissioner for estimates of cost, for the information of the Committee of Twenty-Five of next year.

Mr. P. J. Lyons presented a resolution calling for a committee of five to request the postmaster to urge the establishment of a postal savings bank in Newport as soon as possible. It was adopted.

E. B. Smith was elected a weigher of coal and other merchandise.

Mr. G. G. King presented a resolution of thanks to Mrs. Thomas J. Emery for her generosity in providing the new Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association building and expressing appreciation of the benefit it will be to Newport. The resolution was adopted and an engrossed copy will be sent to Mrs. Emery.

There was no other business and at 10:17 the Council adjourned.

A SHAKESPEARIAN READER.

George Riddle, Prominent in Theatricals, Dies at Boston Hospital.

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—George Riddle, one of the most widely known Shakespearian readers in the country, died at the Relief Hospital today of cerebral hemorrhage. He was found unconscious on the Tremont Street mall of the Common late last night.

Riddle, whose home is in Cambridge, has been prominent in the theatrical profession for nearly 40 years. In 1874 he supported Edwin Booth, who was playing Brutus in Julius Caesar. He was graduated from Harvard in the same year that he appeared with Booth, and was the first alumnus of that university to adopt the stage as a career.
